Loomis City Council -

I have some very nice neighbors who are friendly and have good children. I like them and don't want to cause any problems for them. I know we are all trying to do whatever we can to supplement our incomes and just try to live in a society where prices are skyrocketing.

I have thought of raising some chickens, maybe two, to help myself. My neighbors decided on seven chickens. With seven chickens it is hard not to smell them and it's hard to ignore the tremendous influx of flies that have invaded my home in the last three weeks.

I'm okay with a few chickens on a city lot, but I really feel that any amount over 3-4 is just too many. Our lots are rather small and it's as if we're all living on the same lot together. Please think thru this situation so that everyone can benefit from your decision.
